BALLADE OF THE SUMMER GIRL.

I am sick of mountains and spa and
"Oh, autumn, come!" is my constant prayer.

Nothing is as it promised to be,
And wistful maidens everywhere.

We pack piazzas, the beach, the stair,
Eyeing a man, if but one appears.

As children throng round a dancing bear—
Where are the men of thirty years?

The college youth is a bore to me—
His vacant laugh and his plastered hair.

His English walk and his foolish glee,
And the grass green hose he loves to wear.

One of the most charming events in the history of the church occurred yesterday at the First Presbyterian church, when a large number of its prominent aid society workers held an informal reception for ladies interested in the work.

HARRIERS' CLUB ENTERTAINED LAST NIGHT.

A unique social event, which, according to the boys and girls was "worth while," occurred at the Y. M. C. A. last night, when the Intermediate Harriers' club entertained at a "cobweb" party in honor of their sisters and friends.

The mammoth "cobweb," which, by the way, was a very substantial series of strings, had been wound about and tumbled promiscuously, the fun of the evening having been to overcome each particular tangle systematically, and without coming into serious contact with your neighbor. Refreshments were served, the interesting evening of the popular club passing off in a most flattering manner.

WERE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED IN MOBILE.

The golfers of the Pensacola Country club, who sailed forth on Thanksgiving with the express purpose of beating the Country club of Mobile on its own links, returned to the city yesterday morning, beaten to the tune of 18 points, but happy for the members of the Mobile club had been exceptionally kind to their defeated visitors, having treated them right royally—off the golf links. Following the game, a delightful supper was served at the club house, after which dancing formed the amusement for the remainder of the evening.

Among those who enjoyed the hospitality of the Mobile Country club were Mr. and Mrs. Moulton, Mrs. Goodloe, Miss Hilda Blount, Mr. Bailey, Mr. Wright, Mr. Hayward, Mr. Ellis Knowles, Mr. Frank Riley, Mr. Nash Read, Mr. John Maxwell, Judge Henry Bellinger, Mr. Prather, Mr. Warren, Mr. W. A. Blount, Jr., Mr. A. C. Blount and others.

The Mobile Register says: There was no time for colloquies at the Country Club yesterday, for the Mobile players had to play golf with the Pensacola club, and had to come to the Gulf City for the express purpose of beating them on their own golf links on Thanksgiving Day, and the Mobile golfers played golf to a finish, beating their opponents by 18 points.

Pensacola was represented by fifteen, and they were given lunch at noon by the Country Club, covers being laid for thirty, the other fifteen being the Mobile players, and the start was made at 12 noon. They scored under the Nassau system, under which each round counts one point and game one point.

Mr. Ellis Knowles, of Pensacola, established a new record for the course, making a score of 73.

The score follows:

Mobile. Pensacola.

THE WOMAN BEAUTIFUL.

Don't use your eyes when they are smart; smarting means that they are calling for rest. Beware of a dazzling sunshine or a high wind on a dusty day; even if you boast of strong eyes, under such conditions better protect them with glasses.

Steaming is not recommended for delicate skin. A better method of cleansing is provided by the application of alternate hot and cold cloths. This treatment should continue for ten minutes. Never use on the face a washrag which is not scalded each day.

In washing the hands use a pure soap containing no free alkali and always rinse the soap carefully away. Keep your hands out of hot water as much as you can and avoid tight gloves, tight collars, tight corsets—in fact, anything that will interfere with the circulation.

If the girl who gets purple stains on her fingers from her typewriter ribbon doesn't remember that soap and water only sets these stains she would have less tedious scrubbing of her hands to do. A cloth wet with a little pure alcohol will take them off quickly unless soap has already been applied to them. The girl who passes a good many hours a day over her machine would do well to keep a tiny bottle of alcohol in her desk drawer, just for this purpose.

To get the full value of cold cream it must be let dry on the face. It takes time for the skin to absorb it.

In massaging wrinkles use the tips of the fingers and thumb, always working across the line; never follow the lines of the creases.

Tender feet should be soaked in very hot water, then in cold water and rubbed with witch hazel. Cold cream, if well rubbed into the soles of the feet at night, and if the feet are powdered with talcum the next morning, will make the skin less sensitive. Sea salt baths, followed by a bath of bay rum and grain alcohol will relieve the burning and stinging sensation caused by standing too long.

Avoid leaning on the elbows or they will become rough and ugly and spoil the contour of the arm. Bathe them as carefully as the hands.

A fine nail polish is made of three parts of French chalk to one part of pulverized pumice stone. A little of the polishing powder is sufficient to produce a nice luster to the nails.

For the baggy appearance under the eyes rub gently with the tips of the fingers dipped in alcohol. Afterward massage in the same way with cold cream.

When shampooing never rub the soap directly on the hair, as it gums and is almost impossible to rub or rinse off. Always have the soap in some liquid form.

For falling hair try massaging the scalp nightly with a lotion made of three drams of pure glycerin, four ounces of lime water and half an ounce of tincture of cantharides.

Of late many countries have been making official tests as to the value of germicides. As a result it is declared that the public should be careful in the selection of a disinfectant, for there are in the market many which have no germicidal action whatever.

Prof. Hewlett, as a result of his tests, says that not only is the public deceived, but there is also a grave danger introduced when a person believed he was using something which would totally destroy germs and was thereby lulled into a sense of security when in reality no sense of security was justified. He claims that for many years past sanitary authorities have been living in a fool's paradise vainly imagining that the fluids they have been sprinkling around have been dealing death and destruction to all germs and bacterial intruders. His advice is that before buying a germicide the public should insist on receiving with it a copy of a report on its value by a bacteriologist or properly qualified medical man of standing.

when they are in this state. Washing should be done only in tepid water and the condition is much helped if a teaspoonful of glycerine is added to every pint. Natural heat must be restored by rubbing and exercising; never by holding the hands over a register or radiator.

All children should be put to bed with a clean skin and a clean nightgown. The bedroom and bedding should be thoroughly aired every day and the room well ventilated at night. Place the bed so the air will not blow directly on the child. Attention to these particulars, with good, wholesome food, plenty of exercise and regular hours for sleep will lay a good foundation for future health, strength and happiness. Children seem to crave and require some sweets, but these should be given sparingly.

Your Druggist Says

Ask Your Druggist

The great army of American druggists are mighty intelligent and well-educated men.

They know the properties of drugs and medicines, and have experience with all kinds of troubles, which people come into the store to ask relief for.

So their practical knowledge is very valuable, and their advice is worth a great deal to all sick people.

If you know your druggist well enough to ask his advice for your female trouble, do so, and he will tell you that thousands of women have written letters, telling of relief obtained from taking Cardui.

In his experience, he has heard and read of many cases of female weakness, which have been relieved or cured by Cardui. So, when you ask his opinion, he will not offer a prescription, but will probably say: "Take Cardui." And you will do well to follow his advice.

Cardui is advised in all the common forms of womanly trouble, due to disorders peculiar to females. It has been found to relieve or prevent headache, backache, side ache, dragging sensations, nervousness, irritability, irregularity, and general female weakness and misery.

Many thousands of sick ladies have been restored to health, by the use of Cardui, and have written to tell of the good it did them.

Cardui is composed of pure, vegetable ingredients—hence has no harmful effects, like many mineral compounds. It acts gently and naturally, is good for young and old, and should be in every lady's home, even if not an invalid, to take during her bad days.

MRS. TEMPIE CLARK, Timberville, Miss.

"I am sure that Cardui will cure other sick ladies as it has me."

Cardui is carried, as a standard remedy, on the shelves of all reliable drug stores. Your druggist will recommend it, and will gladly sell you a bottle, with full directions for use, on the inside of the wrapper.

If in doubt, ask him.

VALUABLE BOOK FREE Write for 64-page illustrated book, "Home Treatment for Women," describing symptoms of Female Diseases and giving valuable hints on health, hygiene, and the use of Cardui for women.
